Colorado Historical Society,U.S., United States, 2007. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 226 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Romine Ostrander, born in 1837 in Roseville, Illinois, had made his way to Colorado as a private in the First Colorado Cavalry by the time he was twenty-five. On February 26, 1863, he bought a small, leather-bound diary; over the next three years he filled this volume and two more with his thoughts, travels, and frustrations. The delicate, well-worn diaries accompanied the private in his saddlebags over miles of dusty Colorado trails, but eventually they disappeared. The 1863 and 1865 journals resurfaced in 1922 in a warehouse in Fresno. Annotated for historic interest but otherwise unedited, they offer a fascinating and infectious read - the young author creates a vivid portrait of frontier Colorado and comments on the events of his day: the Sand Creek Massacre, the Civil War, Lee s surrender, and his own encounters with Arapahos, Cheyennes, Comanches, Apaches, and Cherokees. Jan. 24, 1865: I have had pretty spirited arguments with these third reg t ducks sometimes about the barbarity of indiscriminately murdering defenseless women and children of the Indians at sand creek. Some of them deny that any thing of the kind was done except in the general action when there was no telling the difference; and some acknowledge that there were women and children killed after the general action was over; but argue that it was right because Indians have done the same. Oct. 17, 1863: I know that I have written a great many foolish - yes silly things in this book, and - well, what of it? What if I have? Who s business is it? Who s going to read them? I am! Published by the Colorado Historical Society.
